

New Century Financial

2005 Annual Report

Drawing on ten years of lending wisdom and a strong financial foundation for the formation of a growing future.

About New Century Financial

New Century Financial is a real estate investment trust corporation. They asked us to create an annual report to communicate their corporate vision for their shareholders. The report we designed takes inspiration from architectural blueprints, complete with plans outlining the company's growth strategies and bounded by staples. Floor plans and engineering drawings showed the history of the company and their plans on successfully growing beyond their 10 years in business. Financial graphs were drawn as detailed sections.

